Happy Vacation Memories Start Here

For 22 years people have been coming to Sweethaven to create vacation memories they will cherish for a lifetime.

With only 5 cottages on 9 wooded acres there is a feeling of spaciousness and tranquility that makes tightly wound grown-ups sleep like babies. Each cottage has its own unique look and location, but all have every amenity needed for a comfortable retreat. The moss-covered paths beckon you to take a walk in the woods. The tree house, horseshoe pit and the volleyball court beg you to come and play. The screened porches, sunny decks and private hot tubs offer serene spots to just sit and rest. And there's a perfect place for campfires to sprout at the drop of a match.

All year long Sweethaven is where beach excursions begin, snowball fights breakout, and hayrides happen.

Reclaimed

Andy and Mary Brown
- Hearthwoods Custom
Furnishings

For over 25 years, Hearthwoods Custom Furnishings has been creating extraordinary furniture, architectural accents and structures using reclaimed and repurposed wood. Their furniture is built with design and quality always in the forefront.

Andy and Mary Brown chose Harbor Country because they love Lake Michigan, the beautiful countryside and the many artists and entrepreneurs who have settled here. Andy's love of nature started him on the path of building furniture from discarded trees and reclaimed wood.

What began in a small building in downtown New Buffalo has grown today into two showrooms in Lakeside and a manufacturing facility in Three Oaks. His style and the store itself have developed and evolved to include leading edge designs and a collection of home accessories that compliment the furniture. They look to continue on this course of growth in the future.

They enjoy the creative process of their business and staying on the forefront of home designs. Andy takes pleasure in working with his customers to create beautiful pieces for their homes. They feel that what makes them different from other similar businesses are their designs and the unique mix of accessories that they have to complement their furniture and architectural accents.

Respite

Toni Morris and Dan Saunders of Yellow Bird Vacation Rentals take pleasure in matching their customers with the perfect setting for their ideal Michigan vacation. Their repertoire has something for everyone from lakefront properties and luxury homes to cozy cottages.

Founded in 2009, their aim is to provide Harbor Country homeowners with the highest quality property management services, and vacationers a link to the areas finest residences available for rent year round. You just need to tell them what you're looking for: two bedroom, three bedroom, four plus bedrooms, duplex, hot tub, lakefront, pet friendly or a pool and they will match you up so that your stay here brings you the Harbor Country experience you are seeking.

They decided to get into this business here because of the beautiful setting and easygoing lifestyle that gave them an opportunity to live where they loved to vacation. When asked about their plans for the future, their comment was, "That's a secret".

Dedicated

Mark Kroll & David Aaker ~ Whole Nine Yards

David Aaker and Mark Kroll of Whole Nine Yards are dedicated to their customers and their business. They offer a wide variety of blinds, shutters and shades. Their personal attention extends from the design consultation through the installation. They have been serving Harbor Country and beyond since 2008 and will help you "Complete your view".

They decided to open their business here when they realized that there was a need for a local, window covering professional when working on their own home and through conversations with designers, builders and real estate agents. They also liked the mix of full time and part time homeowners, who provided a blend of creative energy, along with an ever changing visual landscape.

They will go the whole nine yards with you. David and Mark will give you their personal attention from beginning to end, assisting the homeowner with identifying a window covering, measuring for the window covering and installing the product. Their knowledge and experience helps them guide the homeowners through the vast array of options, identifying the best solution for their needs and the physical environment. Their creative juices are stimulated by the evolving products, fabrics and operating mechanisms available and the clients that provide them with new challenges. Whole Nine Yards has experienced sales growth every year since opening. Their showroom is an ongoing development project as they work to highlight new products and materials.

Church

Converge Community Church/Sawyer Highlands Church is led by Pastor Jeff Dryden and Associate Pastors, Rob Nash and Mike Bettig. They are one church meeting in two locations (New Buffalo and Sawyer). While their worship service is essentially the same, each campus possesses its own unique personality. Messages from the Bible are relevant, the singing is lively, and the people are welcoming.

Pastor Dryden said that he experienced a spiritual transformation in his life during his youth years on the West Coast. He never really saw himself as a pastor of a church, but thought he'd always be in youth work. He moved here in 1988, taking a youth pastor position. He's changed roles a few times until becoming Lead Pastor in 2000. He said, "We love the people that are part of this church."

They are a blend of long time locals and newer residents, who have become friends. That is the idea behind the name Converge Community Church. While their backgrounds may be different, they share a common love for Jesus. He said that they say, "our paths Converge together at the Cross." It's not a mere slogan; it's actually true for us." What Pastor Dryden enjoys the most about what he does is "Connecting God to real life."

Converge started in October 2012, meeting at New Buffalo High School. Pastor Dryden said that "a church isn't a building, it's people." However, it is nice to have a building to meet in. They are remodeling the old Jackson's Southwest building on U.S. Highway 12. He said that they looked for space that could be reclaimed just like Jesus reclaims lives. They want it to be open and multi-useable. The congregation loves the old car showroom lobby and the large overhead doors. They hope that the building will be an asset to the community and they extend a welcome to whoever would like to join them.

Passionate

Light Harbor Rentals is a vacation rental company in Harbor Country that operates a portfolio of luxurious and affordable properties in some of the best locations in town. They offer the booking simplicity, reputation and comfort of a hotel, but with the spaciousness and charm of a high-end home or condo.

Jason Milovich was a Chicagoan who came here 15 years ago and purchased a restaurant in New Buffalo. He fell in love with the town and then soon after with his future wife, Erika. They met while working in real estate. The customers that came into their office off the street would ask about vacation rentals. It didn't take them long to see a demand that needed to be filled. They now have two wonderful children and call Harbor Country their home.

They feel that what makes their rental business different from similar businesses are their communication skills. They are available for their clients at all times in the hopes of making their stay here the best it can be. They enjoy the long lasting relationships they build with both their clients and the property owners. They plan to continue obtaining quality properties in the area and to figure new ways to make their clients' vacations everything they imagined.

They have now partnered with Coldwell Banker, which helps to create a New Buffalo presence for walk-ins and new guests alike.

Unpredictable

Mario Zarantenello, a Realtor in Harbor Country with @properties, is anything, but predictable. His history, interests, community involvement and hobbies are sufficient evidence.

Mario bought his first home over 30 years ago when he was in his twenties. He flipped it and made some money which started a series of flipping Chicago properties for over 20 years. While doing this he was employed fulltime at one of the largest teaching hospitals in Chicago. He learned the real estate business on his own by selling all his properties. When he left the hospital in 2004, he had a one year plan to do nothing but relax. Mario can't sit still. He always needs a project so that plan lasted less than a week.

He feels that Harbor Country chose him. His first memory of the area is coming here in the 70's in the back of his fathers Buick Electra on day trips. He remembers going to Warren Dunes and watching the hang gliders fly off the top of the dunes, apple picking and eating Broasted Chicken at Don's Bar. Then in the 80's, he came here with friends and then finally bought a home in the 90's.

Mario enjoys the people he comes in contact with while running his business: buyers, sellers, other realtors... "There's so many personalities out there that it becomes fun reacting to people reacting to me." He also enjoys the flexibility of setting his own schedule and having the ability to work from home, which gives him the freedom that many careers don't have. He feels that having worked in oncology for 25 years has taught him to be precise, punctual and professional and he applies those standards to everything he does. About the future, Mario says, "Sell, sell, sell! It's deeper than that, but I plan on being here for awhile."

His other "jobs" he does for personal fulfillment: He serves on the Chikaming Township Zoning Board of Appeals and the Chikaming Township Planning Commission. He said he loves his township and is planning to do more for it in the future. He also serves on the Board of Directors of the Harbor Country Chamber of Commerce and serves on their subcommittees. He has just been invited to serve on the Board of Directors of the Michiana Humane Society and is looking forward to using his talents to help them. "I serve on these boards, panels and commissions because I strongly feel that every member of a society should give back to the community. Our communities serve us; it's up to us to keep them healthy," Mario commented. In his spare time he enjoys tinkering with old cars, attending car shows, doing home improvement projects and spending time with his two rescue dogs, Peanut and Butters.

Homemade

Colleen Froehlich of Froehlich's is all about homemade. Her store is a café, bakery and so much more. She has a processing kitchen where they make a full line of preserves and pickles and also has take out foods and catering available.

Colleen grew up in a Mom and Pop grocery business in St. Joseph, Michigan that taught her the bounty and beauty of the areas produce production. She got the retail food bug at an early age working side by side with her Grandpa and Dad and tried to get rid of it, but just couldn't shake it off. She feels that she is different from other similar businesses because all of her products are made in the store's front kitchen from scratch. Many of their products come from their own family farms and those of local growers. She enjoys making products that people enjoy as the best part of her business. If you are there to grab a bite to eat, you can browse the shop and be tempted by homemade goodies and kitchen gadgets.

As she looks towards the future she would like to build another kitchen for the production of more yummy products and expand into the wholesale business and farmers markets.

The Lakeside Inn is a thirty room National and State Historical Inn across the street from beautiful Lake Michigan. This Inn started out as a farm house 100 years ago and then became an Inn. Proprietors Judy Zitske and Connie F. Williams feel that their place is different than others because as you walk in the door you know you've taken a step back in time. The building has a large front porch with the picturesque chairs overlooking the lake across the street. The atmosphere exudes relaxation and transports you to a different era when things were simpler.

The owner, Devereux Bowly, came to this area from Chicago as a teenager and fell in love with the Lakeside Inn. Later, when it came up for sale, he purchased it in 1994. Mr. Bowly died in August of 2014.

Judy and Connie feel that the Inn takes you away from the hustle of the city. You just can't help but relax when you are there. What they relish the most about running the Inn is seeing the guests take pleasure in just relaxing, reading and playing board games. For them it's a good feeling seeing guests enjoying themselves. What does the future hold? Just continuing on with the Inn and keeping it the way Mr. Bowly wanted it.

Trustworthy

Tom Hemingway has been a realtor in Harbor Country for over a decade. As Tom Hemingway/Remax Harbor Country, he specializes in lakefront and cottage properties stretching from New Buffalo to Saugatuck, Michigan. Along with his other business, Bluefish Vacation Rentals, he has developed a vast knowledge of income producing vacation homes.

Tom was originally from Michigan, but lived in Chicago for many years. He bought his first cottage in Union Pier in 1997 and fell in love with Michigan all over again. He moved here full time in 1998 when he purchased an older resort with his partner and turned it into the Firefly Resort in Union Pier. How did he get into real estate? Tom said that he had a design business in Chicago and always had an interest in real estate. Once they sold the Firefly Resort, the natural step was into real estate. Tom felt that he was lucky to find Remax Harbor Country with Dan Coffey as the Broker.

Since his other business is Vacation Rentals, Tom feels his knowledge of the second home market helps him find the right properties for his clients. He is also a developer so his understanding of construction helps his buyers and sellers know how they can change an existing home to improve its value. He enjoys his freedom to make all of his own choices. "There is a lot of creativity involved in molding a business. It's exciting," he commented. Tom plans to continue to stay involved in the community and hopes to build another development in the future.

Local Color Gallery was created when lifelong Harbor Country residents, Jennifer and Rita Cochran, wanted a place to display Rita's whimsical pottery. After approximately eighteen months in New Buffalo, Local Color Gallery found a new home in an old factory in Union Pier. Jennifer and Rita rehabbed the building themselves, with a little help from friends, after teaching school each day and on the weekends.

Even though Local Color Gallery has been at its present location for almost thirty years, in the beginning, it was very lonely as there were not many other businesses in Union Pier. Now Local Color Gallery is one of many businesses along the Red Arrow Highway corridor.

Today, this bright and colorful gallery displays the work of over ninety artists, many of them local. You will find paintings, fine crafts, jewelry, furniture, pottery, photography, sculpture, dunescapes, wearable art, glass art and much, much more. The art work ranges from the formal contemporary to the delightfully whimsical and the prices range from very affordable to an artistic investment. To round out their services, they offer custom framing which enhances the wonderful gallery selections.

In this pleasant, friendly and artistically diverse setting, children can enroll in a wide variety of summer art classes. If you're into an artistic experience, stop by and wander through the rooms and let your senses be excited by the gallery's collection.

Vacation

~ Lake Country Inn

Dr. Mark and Hope Traill are the proprietors of Lake Country Inn. It was built in 2005 and is a small, nine room boutique Inn located conveniently in the center of New Buffalo. Their unique, colorful rooms accommodate one or two adult guests. They feel they're a little bit different because their rooms are gorgeous and their location is hard to beat. You don't need a car at all once you arrive and there's always the Amtrak to get you there. Also, because they are small, it never feels hectic at the property, which makes it easier to relax. You feel like you're vacationing at a friend's home.

Dr. Mark and Hope really love Harbor Country and have enjoyed the area for many years. When the property went up for sale, they decided to take a look at it and were very impressed by the design and quality of the building and grounds. Having hosted family and friends over the summer for many years, they felt they were in a good position to expand their hospitality through Lake Country Inn. The business seemed like a good way to engage and contribute to the community. Plus, nothing beats a Lake Michigan sunset or walk on the beach.

What they enjoy the most are their guests. They take pleasure in meeting their guests and seeing them happy. Nothing is better to them than a morning chat with someone who is relaxed, happy and excited about being in Harbor Country.

To them it is rewarding to know that they are helping someone have a great day. "We have some of the best guests in the world from all across the world. As a result, the atmosphere at the property is pretty amazing," commented Dr. Mark and Hope. For the future, they would like to promote group activities and events in the off-season.

Hospitality

Bill and Joyce Jann pride themselves in the hospitality at their establishment, The Inn at Union Pier. It is a sixteen room bed and breakfast inn located in a quiet residential setting just a short three minute walk to a beautiful Lake Michigan beach. Originally, the structure was a casual resort, but it has developed into a very delightful Inn with an elegant living area downstairs, a cozy dinning room, and guest rooms with various amenities.

They have been bed and breakfast owners/operators for over 25 years. Bill and Joyce got started when their children were young and they desired to have a family business where they could raise their kids in a country setting so they left their careers in the city and began their life as the proprietors of an Inn.

They chose the Harbor Country area because of its natural attractions such as the lake, woods for hiking, sand dunes and the variety of other fine businesses in Harbor Country, including quaint shops, art galleries, wineries, antiques, and restaurants. It was also in close proximity to Chicago if any of their guests wanted a taste of the city. They work very hard at offering hospitality and relaxation to their guests and try to treat them like visiting family. Bill and Joyce feel that they have a wonderful staff that extends these attitudes every day to their guests.

The Inn at Union Pier has enjoyed good success with corporate retreats and small intimate meetings. They will continue to grow the business in that direction, along with their special winter getaways.

Everything

The Sawyer Home and Garden Center, has been a family owned and operated business for over 30 years. Barry and Linda Patejdl want to offer their customers the "total shopping experience". They feel it is the ultimate, one stop shop where they continue to offer everything for every season on a daily basis year round.

Barry and Linda Patejdl ~ Sawyer Garden Center

Barry grew up in Harbor Country and feels that nothing can beat your hometown. They feel that the community is wonderful and is a beautiful place to live. Being raised in a family of entrepreneurs, Barry, with his wife Linda, decided that they wanted to build something great for his family and the community.

They enjoy making the Sawyer Home and Garden Center a destination spot. "We strive to be hospitable to our customers and create a memorable shopping experience," they commented. They love getting new products and services that their customers get excited about, and offering quality products at competitive prices.

What to expect when you visit their establishment? Look forward to spending some time browsing all the nook and crannies of the center and the outdoor nurseries in season. There is fresh produce, cheeses, specialty and gourmet items and so much more in the food section. Usually there are tasting stations with savory products paired with different crackers or breads for you to sample. They have a kitchen and dishes section next to the beer, wine and liquor department. The store flows out into gift and home décor, beauty and body care products, candles and scents, clothing, bird feeding, outdoor living and everything gardening. The center is always decorated for the season and you can constantly find something blooming or fresh greens in the winter to help you see the spring. Then the place explodes with the outdoor nurseries. They offer services that can help you plan your landscape or do it for you. Their staff is knowledgeable and helpful and if what you ask is not their specialty, they will find you someone who is.

John Natsis, with his partner Tom Hemingway, have been providing outstanding vacation homes for their customers for over a decade through their service Bluefish Vacation Rentals. They have a wide selection of homes to meet every vacation need and budget from one bedroom charming cottages to exceptional two to five bedroom properties. Some of their listings are on Lake Michigan or have lake views, and most are in within a short walk to the lake, beach or town. They have a tag line that says "You'll have more FUN at our house."

John and Tom spent weekends camping at Warren Dunes State Park and visiting friends here in the mid 90's. They eventually bought a fixer-upper in Union Pier. They loved being here so much as it was a nice respite from their Chicago life, they eventually bought a mini resort; sold their home in Chicago's "Bucktown"; and eventually settled in this magical place year round.

John had extensive hospitality experience with both the Sheraton and Hilton hotels in Chicago. He and Tom opened up a resort and then started the vacation rental business. John felt that everything happened organically from there. "Tom has always been very interested in real estate, and is very customer focused, so it is not a surprise to anyone who knows him that the vacation rental business and his real estate career would be a success," John commented.

John stated that they did not start off with this idea as their "master plan", but the fact that they see this business from a 360 degree perspective is great for everyone. Not only do they rent fabulous vacation homes, but they sell them too. Their renters sometimes turn into buyers; their buyers sometimes decide to have them rent their homes; and on occasion if they go to sell, they consider them since they really know the home inside and out - hence the 360 degrees reference.

John said that their business is multi-faceted. On any give day it is different than it was the day before and that is exciting. A huge factor is that they get to provide thousands of their customers with a wonderful vacation experience. He feels that they have found their "sweet spot" managing an inventory of around 50 to 55 homes, which is a perfect place to be. They have found that over this past decade that this is a good number to be able to fill the rental homes for their owners, manage and take care of the properties so that their renters have the best experience they can have, plus just a little free time for themselves.

"Just to say that we realize living in a place like Harbor Country is a privilege for us. It is not always easy to be able to make it work in a town that is very tourism driven, but over the past decade we see that changing. New businesses who work hard can really make it work here. We are becoming more of a year-round destination, and that is good for everyone," John added.

Cozylicious

Harbert House Bed and Breakfast is a five room/five bath country house nestled in a meadow one mile from Lake Michigan. It features a gourmet hot breakfast each morning and wine with hors d'oeuvres in the late afternoon. Owner, Nancy Watson, feels that the oversized common areas are a huge draw especially for groups traveling together. Foodies admit that after reading the reviews online, Harbert House is high on their list of places to stay.

Nancy Watson
~ Harbert House Bed and Breakfast

Nancy wanted to downsize her work load from a full service catering operation in Chicago, so opening a bed and breakfast seemed a perfect fit. She adores cooking and entertaining so she's living her dream. She chose Harbor Country because the area has the freshest farm produce, beaches, sunsets, galleries, antiques and there are no parking meters!

She is motivated by meeting the steady stream of new and fascinating people. "One gentleman insisted on checking my oil and tires when he heard I was going into the city. A woman sent me a dollar for accidentally taking a hanger. It's so gratifying to have guests return year after year," she relayed. For the future she sees herself developing new coffee cakes and hors d'oeuvres. "I love it the way it is," she commented.

Nancy said that she is very proud to be a part of the Harbor Country business community. She feels that they all go to great lengths to support each other and she works to make this area a vibrant destination. Her reflections on the best part of what she does: "Singing along with spontaneous musical gatherings around the piano. Fireside chats in the middle of winter with hot mulled wine. Watching children clowning around in the hammock without a smart phone in sight. Having a couple get engaged at the Harbert House and then returning for a short honeymoon."

Tom and Tammy are the proprietors of the Deer Creek Hunt Club, a sportsman's paradise. It is a world class sporting clay and hunting facility nestled on 500 acres of beautiful ravine woodlands, streams, rolling hills and contoured cover fields.

Deer Creek can accommodate a variety of shooter/hunters ranging from novice, average and even expert. Begin your day with a private shooting lesson from one of their certified range safety officers, followed by testing your new skills on one of their fully automated sporting clay courses or in the hunting fields.

Don't forget to check out their beautiful clubhouse with many amenities perfect for corporate events. Deer Creek also has its very own pro shop great for purchasing ammo, Deer Creek merchandise, gun rentals, and much more. Other shooting amenities include wobble, five-stand, skeet and two sporting clay courses.

They chose Harbor Country for their location because of its unique character and ideal location. "What we enjoy most is the relationship we develop with the customers. First-time shooters at Deer Creek always come back for more. It's like one big happy family!" they commented.

Looking towards the future, they plan to maintain their beautiful clubhouse and facility and keep the shooters coming back for more. Their biggest dream would be to expand their shooting facility with a handgun or rifle range.

The Three Oaks Inn Bed and Breakfast is a boutique fine-lodging bed and breakfast that caters to couples and small groups.

Proprietors Ron Zarantenello and Ken Wisner commented, "Our Inn has been the perfect setting for couples, family gatherings, wedding parties and reunions with comfortable, inviting spaces inside and outside."

Ron and Ken chose Harbor Country to start a new B&B in late 2007 when they identified a need for overnight lodging inland of Lake Michigan, specifically in Three Oaks Village. The site had to be within an easy stroll to the in-town shops, theaters, galleries, eateries, distillery, brew house, festivals and other attractions. Ron wanted to own and operate a bed and breakfast since his first guest experience in the late 1980's while visiting the Saugatuck area of Southwest Michigan. The thought of hosting and meeting interesting people seemed appealing to them.

When asked what sets them apart from other similar businesses they commented, "Each business owner brings their own unique experiences from previous careers and that's where we set high standards for ourselves. We ensure our inn is spotless, the rooms are comfortable and our breakfast is memorable. Not every visitor to our area needs or wants to be near the beach as there are many in-town attractions and additional sights and activities just a short drive from Three Oaks Village."

They find meeting people from many varied backgrounds, who enjoy travel as much as they do, fascinating. They enjoy conversing with them while they are seated for breakfast and offer tips about area activities and sightseeing. They believe that as their business and the village continues to grow, there will be an opportunity for expanding their inn to accommodate additional guests.

Celebrating 40 years in business, Fredman Design Group is one of the country's largest residential interior design firms with over fifteen award-winning senior designers and a robust support staff. They believe design matters for everyone and their goal is to create spaces that you'll love. They feel that their group is collaborative, every-changing and inspiring.

Kathy Hoffman,
senior interior designer
~ Fredman Design Group

Susan began her interior design career by dressing the windows of some of Chicago's most prominent retailers. Then people started asking if she'd design their homes. "It was a natural progression and one that highlights that design truly affects how people live and interact within a build environment – it matters," she observed.

After a visit to Harbor Country many, many years ago, she simply fell in love. Almost immediately afterwards, she found a small bungalow to buy and visit regularly. The design industry was alive and thriving in the area with fabulous art and antiques so it just made sense to her to open a second office here. "And the rest, as they say, is history," she perceived.

She feels that her firm is different in that they are wholeheartedly collaborative – with each other, with their clients, with their vendors, and with other trades people. "You can't find that level of support with other firms. Our passion for exquisite design and creating luxury for our clients in whatever way that comes up for them – that's what sets us apart," she added. Hands-down, Susan enjoys the people the most. "I work with amazingly talented people and it is an honor," she said.

In the future they want to expand their design efforts here, always reinventing themselves through their work, through the Susan Fredman At Home boutique. They also want to grow their building division, Stone's Throw Builders, by making huge strides with their innovative custom container cottage homes – luxury homes made from recycled shipping containers that are completely tailored to the homeowners' desires. "Very cool," she commented.

Horizon Vacation Rentals offers high quality homes for vacation rentals. "Being so particular as I am, I realize this is needed to please the visitors to the area and try to offer a five star stay," says proprietor Pete Bernal.

Pete chose this area because of the charm and beauty that Harbor Country has to offer. At first he used the homes for year-round rentals. However, while remodeling the homes and with the demand for vacation rentals, he decided to put together an upscale attraction to the homes and market them as vacation rentals. Each of his homes will be unique in their own way.

He enjoys the happiness that his rental units bring to the visitors, the appreciation they feel after staying in Harbor Country, and feeling so welcome. He feels that the appreciation in a good product is expressed by the compliments and gratitude of all the patrons. "My reward and incentive is through the customer's feedback on the VRBO reviews. My personal contentment and direction is led by these reviews for our upcoming vacation homes," Pete commented.

He plans to continue to expand his vacation home rental business.

Chad Gradowski is a Coldwell Banker Realtor licensed in Michigan and Indiana who has 15 years of experience selling lakefront homes, country estates and Harbor Country homes and condos. He is recognized as one of the top 100 realtors in the Chicagoland area by Coldwell Banker NRT. Chad grew up in Harbor Country and has spent most of his life enjoying the beaches, boating, riding horses and taking advantage of the great lifestyle that's possible here. “These are wonderful communities with so much to offer, and now that my wife and I are raising three daughters there is no place I'd rather live. We have excellent schools, a wide variety of things to do in all seasons, and there is so much potential still to develop in our area,” he commented.

Chad Gradowski
~ Coldwell Banker

Chad pointed out that we are also just an hour away from Chicago, a great, international city, which is extraordinary. He feels that Harbor Country has been very good to him and his family and he can't imagine being anywhere else.

He got his real estate license in his late 20's when he and his wife were rehabbing and flipping homes in the area. In the first three years of their marriage they flipped three homes. “I enjoy the challenge of finding just the right house for buyers and helping sellers succeed in their goals too,” Chad added.

He has been ranked number one in sales in Southwest Michigan for the past five years. “What sets me apart is my focused knowledge of this market. I know how to price and market homes to sell, and I work hard to find the right fit for each individual buyer as well,” Chad explained. What has been most exciting about real estate for him is that it has given him the opportunity to meet interesting people and many of his clients have become friends as well. He enjoys the hunt for the perfect match for his clients.

Chad explained his plans for the future: “I want to be the Walt Disney of Harbor Country – I want to give every client a memorable, exciting and personalized experience that will leave them with a smile, and they will want to tell everyone they know. I feel like I'm not just selling real estate, I'm selling a lifestyle.”

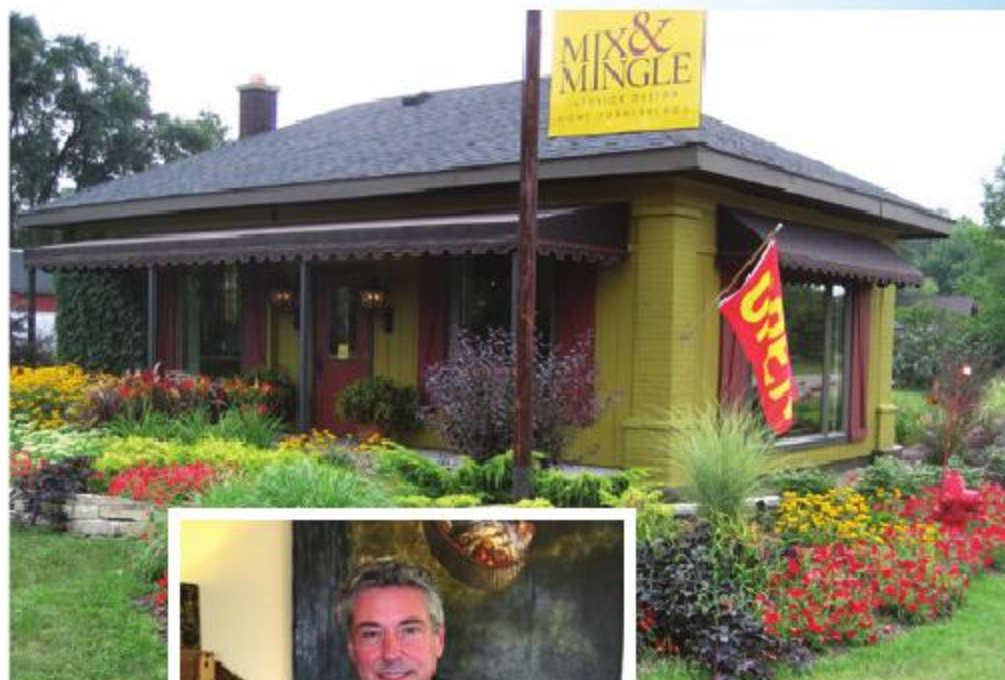

Mix & Mingle is a home furnishings retail shop with interior design services. Jason Whalen, proprietor and designer, has a Bachelors of Fine Art from Michigan State University. The shop opened in 2006 with the concept to highlight contemporary and vintage furnishings for a signature look.

Browsing through the shop you get a feel for the varied pallet he is working with. Antique and modern are side by side. Natural and synthetic materials blend together and there is a definite feel of exotic cultures. There are unique chandeliers, vases and light fixtures to open your mind to the possibilities.

Jason loves what he does and enjoys blending clean lines, sophisticated color palettes and a dramatic sense of scale, texture and form. "Interior design excites me, in that there are so many elements to consider. The full service shop allows me to focus on the big picture, pulling it all together and providing complete design service and décor options," he expounded.

He enjoys being hands-on with all of his projects and working closely with his clients. He listens to their wants and needs, visits the space and works around existing pieces and their budget. It is important to him to know how they live in their space. Are there children, pets, or do they entertain a lot? What is their style? Are they traditional, contemporary or eclectic? He goes over the blueprints, does furniture layouts and helps them with the selection of fabrics, rugs and accessories.

"Most homeowners get overwhelmed and sometimes make poor choices that often result in costly decisions. Since building and furnishing your home is a major investment, why not make it ideal? Too often people select pieces that do not compliment the space nor function in the layout. Your home should be comfortable with a harmonious balance between furniture and accessories yet reflect the homeowner's lifestyle," he explained.

Community

The Harbor Country Rotary's motto is "service above self" with the help of their members and community friends. The object of Rotary is to encourage and foster the ideal of service as a basis of worthy enterprise. They currently have 26 members within the area from the Indiana state line to Sawyer and from the lake to Three Oaks. Their membership consists of business people, professionals, retirees and members of other Rotary groups that are visiting.

President Larry Shawver explained that Rotary is part of an international organization with the number one focus of eliminating polio worldwide. They are also the largest privately financed scholarship program in the world that provides scholarships for students to study in a country other than their own. This past year, they supported the India micro loan project providing sewing machines and material to women, and pigs to farmers so they can provide for their families on an ongoing basis and were able to provide some support to a school in the Dominican Republic that provides education and peaceful co-existence to Haitian and Dominican children in a small town. He pointed out that 90% of the money the club raises stays locally.

Local projects are formulated by the members' interests and they have just completed a successful third year. Some of their fundraisers included an annual Rib Fest, September Mum Sale, October and November Amish Cheese Sales, and working as intersection safety guards for the Apple Cider Century. They also were able to get grants from The Pokagon Fund. This money was used to provide warm hats and mittens to local schools for inclusion in the Toys for Tots distribution; provide Christmas food and staples for 28 families; and send two seniors from area high schools to the Rotary Youth Leadership Academy in August. They also provided pencils and reading books autographed by their speakers to local elementary schools. As an ongoing project they maintain The Hoadley Trail in Watkins Park and adopted a two mile section of US Highway 12 from the American Legion to Basswood Road. In 2015 they are discussing getting involved in the Special Olympics Program.

They meet on Friday mornings from 7:30 to 8:30 a.m. at the Bistro on Elm Street in Three Oaks. Each meeting has a 20 minute program of interest. You will meet fun people, hear interesting programs and help give back to the community.

ATTRACTIONS ENTERTAINMENT & RECREATION

The natural beauty of Harbor Country will take your breath away. There are miles of beaches to walk, woods for leaf-peeping, water to paddle, trails to hike and bike, and parks and preserves for birdwatching and picnics. You can sit back, relax and take it all in, or jump in and find your own adventure.

RIP CURRENTS: are powerful, channeled currents of water flowing away from shore. They typically extend from the shoreline, through the surf zone, and past the line of breaking waves. Rip Currents can occur at any beach with breaking waves, including the Great Lakes. As waves travel from deep to shallow water, they will break near the shoreline. When waves break strongly in some locations and weakly in others, this can cause circulation cells which are seen as rip currents: narrow, fast-moving belts of water traveling offshore. Safety tips for Rip Currents are provided at all Harbor Country beaches. It cannot be stressed enough that even experienced swimmers can be caught in Rip Currents.

SAFETY: Chikaming and New Buffalo Townships have initiated a safety location system for the Lake Michigan shoreline. There are blue fiberglass markers installed approximately every one tenth of a mile along the shoreline. Blue beach markers start at the 7.8 mile mark and extend to the 14.7 mile mark. These markers are coordinated to the Berrien County 911 system for faster emergency response in the event of a mishap. You can also access the local emergency center on your cell phone by dialing 269-756-1111.

The Story of Harbor Country

By the Late Ron Miller,
re-written by Marisue Hojnacki

New Buffalo

Wessel Whittaker was having a miserable day. Bound for Chicago out of Buffalo, NY, Wessel and his crew, aboard the schooner Post Boy, thought the end might be near. A savage November storm in 1834 grabbed control of their vessel and hurtled it onto the Lake Michigan shore. Aground and breaking up, the Post Boy was lost; but Wessel and his crew managed to struggle ashore near the current village of Grand Beach. The New Yorkers, en route to St. Joseph to report the loss of their ship, came upon a harbor which Whittaker was certain could rival the port of Chicago. Captain Whittaker determined that he would return to the scene of his calamity and found his "New" Buffalo.

Our courageous Captain of course, wasn't the first visitor to New Buffalo. The Miami, Iroquois and Potawatomi Tribes all fought for control of the area. The Native Americans, the game and fish they cherished, also attracted French traders and missionaries; but it was our Captain who first made New Buffalo into a permanent community. Whittaker, along with friends and relatives, returned in 1835 and began to develop and promote their dream. Sawmills were constructed and log buildings for every purpose arose. More settlers arrived from New York and the South with not dreams, but real hope and expectations, of riches to be harvested here. Soon these pioneers learned the value of tourists.

Land travelers between Detroit and Chicago spent their tourist dollars as they meandered through New Buffalo. In the late 1840s, the Michigan Central Railroad Company completed the stretch of tracks between Niles and New Buffalo, making New Galien River Bridge, New Buffalo, 1924.

Buffalo the end of the railroad line for travelers between Detroit and Chicago. An unprecedented scale of tourism quickly reshaped the town's character, hotels, restaurants and numerous saloons selling whiskey at five cents a pint opened for business.

Although the railroad continued to contribute to the local economy, it was not until the 1900s and the age of the automobile that New Buffalo truly established its link to tourism. In 1934 the State recognized New Buffalo as "The Grand Beach, early 1920.

Gateway to Michigan" and built a tourist information center here. The current Welcome Center on I-94 is the busiest in Michigan.

The dredging of New Buffalo's harbor began in the 1960s. By 1975, New Buffalo's safe harbor had become a reality and the new Whittaker Street bridge was dedicated. Not quite a port to equal Chicago's, Wessel's harbor was finally complete.

Michiana-Grand Beach

Unlike nearby Harbor Country communities, Michiana and Grand Beach were founded solely as resorts. The Long Beach Development Company began subdividing and building Michiana in the 1920s. A famous Michiana landmark was a Signal

Oak at the corner of Michiana and Powhattan Drives. Early surveyors marked the tree's trunk to signal the Indiana-Michigan state line. The area that is now Michiana (Michigan side) and Michiana Shores (Indiana side) was originally called Michigan Shores.

Stately white gates have welcomed visitors to Grand Beach since the early 1900s. The community's golf course dates from 1911 and was a huge attraction for Chicagoans who arrived three times a day on the Michigan Central Railroad. Frank Lloyd Wright built homes in Grand Beach, but the village's most famous architectural offering was the 175-room Golfmore Hotel. Opened in 1921, the Golfmore offered concerts, movies and a huge, at least for the Midwest, ski jump located on a dune behind the hotel. The Golfmore was destroyed in 1939 by a spectacular fire.

The Grand Beach Inn was once

Downtown Union Pier, early 1930s.

The Pinewood Lodge and served as the training camp for James Braddock as he prepared for his prize fight with Joe Louis. Perhaps the most famous residents of Grand Beach, are author Father Andrew Greeley and the Mayors Daley of Chicago, who have maintained summer homes in the village for decades.

Union Pier

Union Pier was founded on an ethic of hard work without visions of a port to rival Chicago in contrast to Wessel Whittaker's notion in New Buffalo. There was nature's bounty to be harvested here. Tree trunks measured five feet and more in diameter. Trees rose 60 feet to the lowest branches. Squirrels, we are assured, ran through the community without ever touching the ground. There clearly was no Sears Tower to be seen on the horizon across the Lake, but everyone in what is now Union Pier understood that timber was the fuel which would fire the growth of Chicago. Boards could be big business, and so, a group of men built a "Pier in Union" at the foot of Berrien St. It was constructed as a 600-foot edifice jutting into Lake Michigan. A 130-ton schooner was built on the adjacent beach, tracks were laid to Three Oaks and mule-driven cars brought in lumber from sawmills along the route. Soon there were brick and tool handle factories sending their wares to Chicago and beyond. The Chicago Fire of 1871 only increased the demand for Union Pier's natural bounty, but while Chicago was rebuilt, Union Pier's pier washed away and a new economy had to be established.

In the 1900s, tourism replaced timber, bricks and fishing as Union Pier's major industry. Union Pier became the United Nations of tourism. Eastern Europeans, African Americans and Jewish vacationers all established homes and resorts in the community. Olympian Jesse Owens had a home here. Chicago Mayor Anton Cermak, ultimately the victim of an assassin's bullet, brought guests to his summer home by yacht. John Dillinger even stopped for gas at the Prusa Resort service station, which is now the Wine Sellers on Red Arrow Highway. Still, it's the lake and its sunsets that attract us all.

Lakeside

Soon after Wessel Whittaker founded New Buffalo, newly arriving pioneers must have thought the village was a bit congested. Perhaps they simply wanted less expensive land. Whatever the reason, the area's administrators and faculty members from the University of Chicago. In 1913 the Chikaming Country Club was established in Wilkinson's lakefront resort known as Pine Bluff Resort and in 1914 the Golf Club was founded. The two closely knit (but separate) entities were united in 1928. A replica of Shakespeare's birthplace from the International Stock Show was dismantled in Chicago and transported to Lakeside where it became the Country Club's Shakespeare House.

As Lakeside was developing, and the current Red Arrow Highway was constructed, the original Wilkinson Trading Post moved from its lake location to its current home on Red Arrow where it was eventually restored as Wilkinson Village and now houses an interesting museum tracing the history of Lakeside.

The Lakeside Inn is probably the village's most historic romantic site, movie stars were wine and dined there. During Prohibition, as the tale goes, Al Capone along with a variety of Chicago expansion moved north across the Galien River to what is now Lakeside.

As with the other towns developing at the time, one of the first orders of business was to establish a sawmill, but it wasn't until the 1850s and the arrival of the Wilkinson family that real progress began. The Wilkinsons bought 2,500 acres of land along the lake shore. They focused their energies on the area that is now the intersection of Lakeshore Road and Pier Street. A trading post, boarding house and assorted other enterprises also opened, but the jewel of the village, naturally called Wilkinson, was a 600-foot-long pier. The Wilkinson family's schooner, Enterprise, took lumber and bricks to Chicago and returned with supplies for the now-thriving trading post. Wilkinson was renamed Lakeside in 1874.

In the late 1800s, with a train now servicing the community, Lakeside's tourist industry began to flourish. The early visitors were often politicians used the Inn as a favorite drinking and gambling spot.

Harbert

The emergence of the railroad secured the founding of Harbert. John Glavin, an engineer on the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railroad, noted the area's barren land on one of his runs between Chicago and Detroit. Glavin investigated and found the land affordable. He now had a new career. While Indiana Dunes. They established camps on the lakefront and on February 1, 1930 purchased a 60-acre parcel in Harbert, which they named Hazelhurst Camp. This camp is still very active today; dedicated to conservation and walking.

Sawyer

The area now named Sawyer was originally purchased in 1836 from the United States government by John Johnson. In 1873 it was called Troy Station

Glavin founded the community in the 1850s, a Chicago industrialist who was instrumental in building the town's train depot, named after Glavin when it came to naming the village.

Agriculture anchored the Harbert economy, orchards and vineyards were established. All the town's products were gathered at the Harbert depot, bound for transport to Chicago and Detroit.

The community's most famous visitor and resident was Carl Sandburg who wrote much of his Pulitzer Prize-winning account of Abraham Lincoln at his Harbert home. The Sandburgs lived in Harbert for 15 years.

The Prairie Club held their first series of walks in 1908 under the auspices of the Playground Association of Chicago. The walking group and 330 others took their first walk in 1908 to the

with the main street going west/southwest to Lake Michigan ending at Greenbush Pier.

An Ohio judge, Silas Sawyer, grew weary of the courtroom and decided he would join the westward migration in the mid-1800s. Recognizing the potential of timber development here, he bought 100 acres in 1862 and, after clearing half of his land, planted it with fruit trees and built his own wood mill. He continued logging the area and hauled his timber on a horse-driven railroad to Fuller Pier, now the site of Warren Dunes State Park. He gained such great prominence that by 1887 the community had been renamed Sawyer Station.

The town grew as an agricultural center and eventually established an open air market from which buyers transported their purchases by train and truck to population centers. In 1885 Sawyer's main street was named Lake Street. The Post Office/General Store built by Burwell Hinchmen, Sawyer's Postmaster (1885-1890 and 1893-1897, became what is now known as the 5888 Building. An Englishman, David Knight, who had come to the area in the 1870s, worked in the store selling general merchandise. Appointed as Sawyer's Postmaster in 1891 he was one of the first entrepreneurs to take advantage of the region's mild growing climate; and by 1924 he had established a thriving nursery business which shipped nursery stock across the country.

Eventually Silas Sawyer's Sawmill and Cabinet Shop was replaced by W.J. Zeiger's hardware store which featured lumber, tile and building materials. Zeiger Lumber and Coal Company developed into the leading supplier and builder of new homes throughout the region. In 1913 Zeiger charged 15 cents for 15 pounds of plaster, 12 cents for four pounds of #20 nails, and $1.25 for a roll of roofing. Today the newly revived hardware and lumber store stands as a testament to the roots of the community.

John Flynn, a high profile Chicago union leader, built the Flynn Palm Tea Room and Soda Grill in the early 1920's. He expanded the building in 1929 to create the Flynn Theater annex, which showcased live stage productions and current Hollywood movies. The Flynn Building became Sawyer's most famous and it is said that although John Flynn was viewed as an upstanding member of the community, he never traveled without his two body guards.

Founded by Chicago-area Swedish Baptist and Covenant Churches the area continues to be the home of several private beachfront communities. Bethany Beach community was founded in 1905 and Shorewood Hills was established in 1928. Sawyer is also home to the well-known Tower Hill Camp, founded in the 1920's by the Congregational Church. The United Church of Christ was built in the late 1880's and still stands today in downtown Sawyer.

Even though Sawyer is one of the few Harbor Country communities without public beach access, the Warren Dunes State Park runs along its northern border. The 1,950 acre park provides three miles of sandy shoreline, six miles of hiking trails, and a dune formation that stands over 150 feet above water level. It attracts over 1.5 million visitors annually and is open year round.

Three Oaks

Imagine this: the President of the United States makes his way to a tiny Michigan village to dedicate a war memorial. He's greeted by a fellow who has turned turkey feathers into a worldwide industry and declared "Three Oaks Against the World."

Edward Warren shook the hand of President McKinley in 1899 at the Three Oaks train station and heard him eloquently dedicate the Dewey Cannon Monument to the good people of Three Oaks and their contribution to the Spanish-American War. The campaign Warren waged against every other city and village in the nation to raise the most per capita for the war effort and its veterans was yet another victory for a most incredible businessman and benefactor.

Three Oaks was linked to the rest of our current Harbor Country communities by the timber and bricks shipped to Chicago and other Great Lakes cities, and, of course, there was the railroad. The crews aboard the Central Michigan Railroad passing through the village recognized three oak trees which appeared to be one because of their mass and proximity. Everyone on board recognized the three oaks, as did the local residents and so the village was named.

Let's pick up the course of Mr. Warren. One day he noticed a store clerk fix a broken whale bone corset stay with a turkey feather quill. An industry was born at that moment. Turkey feather quills became garment stays and buggy whips. The Three Oaks economy was booming and the Warren Featherbone Factory still stands proudly in the center of town.

The biggest events in Harbor Country occur in Three Oaks every year. The "Oakers" claim they have the biggest Flag Day Parade in the United States, certainly no one will dispute that it's one great party. The biggest event is the Apple Cider Century bike ride which draws some 7,000 riders from across the country. No buggy whips required.

Fresh To The Table

Harbor Country is blessed with the climate and soil to grow a wide variety of fruits and vegetables and sustain livestock. This makes it perfect for supplying your dinner table and local restaurants with fresh ingredients.

In our small towns, along Red Arrow Highway and the back roads, you will find farmers' markets and roadside stands. Venture out into the country and you will see local farmers offering the fruits of their labor.

Part of the Harbor Country experience is enjoying its fresh bounty at home and in local eateries.

WINE BEERS & SPIRITS

With a climate similar to Napa Valley in California, Harbor Country wineries are home to award-winning reds, whites, blends and sparkling wines that will surely please even the most discerning palette. Microbreweries boast an array of craft beers with ever-changing seasonal varieties. For those seeking something more spirited, distilleries offer hand-crafted whiskey, rum, gin, and more. Be sure to visit a tasting room, or two, many of which are located in the beautiful countryside and raise a glass to a memorable experience.

Chamber of Commerce

New Buffalo This vibrant town is a center of activity with its public beach, lake and riverside parks, boat launch and marinas. The streets are lined with specialty stores and unique eateries. Its lakefront park is a perfect place to watch the sailboats or a sunset. New Buffalo is home to the New Buffalo Railroad Museum, an Amtrak stop and a Michigan Welcome Center, the busiest in the state.

Michiana Known for its quaint log cabins, many of them dating back to the 1920s, this charming community is home to about 200 homeowners. Michiana was one of the last resort areas in the region to be developed because of its dense woods and undisturbed natural wetlands. The village is located on the shores of Lake Michigan and on the Indiana/Michigan state border, hence the name Michiana was given in 1945.

Grand Beach Originally a community of Sears and Roebuck cottages, this exclusive resort village on Lake Michigan is home to less than 150 residents. Stately white gates have welcomed visitors to Grand Beach since the early 1900's and the community's public golf course dates to 1911. Among the most famous visitors to Grand Beach are author Father Andrew Greeley and the Mayors Daley of Chicago who have maintained vacation homes in the village for decades.

Union Pier Named from one of the shipping piers used to transport timber to Chicago, the area's major industry in the 1870s, this popular resort town has boomed in the recent years. The countryside surrounding this quaint but growing lakeshore community is dotted with unique antique shops, galleries and grand old resorts that have been restored to their former glory.

Lakeside Settled in 1854 with the Wilkinson sawmill, trading post, and pier, the town became one of the area's earliest summer retreats. Red Arrow Highway and its crossroads are home to many antique shops, galleries and specialty stores. An active homeowners' association sponsors several events during the year and fosters a strong sense of community.

Harbert Home to a Swedish Bakery that speaks to the Scandinavian founders of this thriving little resort community that was created after the turn of the century. The community's most famous visitor and resident was Carl Sandburg. Much of Sandburg's Pulitzer Prize winning account of Abraham Lincoln was written at his Harbert home, where he and his wife lived for 15 years. Today, you'll encounter out of the ordinary art galleries, antique shops, stores, and charming dining opportunities.

Sawyer The site of Warren Dunes, which is one of the state's largest parks and the most popular with several hundred acres of dunelands, campgrounds and beaches. Sawyer also provides a large travel center just off Interstate 94 which offers weary travelers a safe haven, fuel, food and travel aids. The surrounding area is graced with country vineyards, many antique stores, curio shops and fruit stands.

Three Oaks Named for massive oaks that stood near a town rail crossing, the town has become quite a cultural center with its fine arts movie theatre, a live performance theatre that draws much of its talent from Chicago and several artists' studios and galleries. In addition, the downtown area, with its "turn of the century" buildings, features niche retail, specialty and dining options as well as several parks and museums.
